

Editor's Note ...

This school year was supposed to be the return-to-normal (or almost normal) school year, but as a recent article published in The Philadelphia Inquirer stated, it is going to be anything but normal. Even though there is more of the same coming your way with mask mandates, virus testing and so on, Pennsylvania school leaders have risen to the challenge once again and will continue to do so.

The PA Principals Association has been busy working on opportunities to provide in-person professional development to members across the commonwealth. After a very successful PA Educational Leadership Summit held in August at Kalahari Resorts Poconos, we are excited to hold our LEAD21 Conference in October at The Penn Stater. See pages 8-9 of this issue for details. Register today and save $50! Also, regional meetings are being scheduled for the fall as well starting with two in western Pennsylvania.

We know this is a busy time of year, but we encourage you to take some time to read this issue of The Pennsylvania Administrator. It is packed with valuable articles with information that you can use in your schools and districts. Since we had so many excellent articles submitted for our spring theme issue (The 2020 Pandemic: Lessons Learned for Schools), a few articles have been included in this edition.

Enjoy this issue!
