

Session Description: Expanding advanced coursework opportunities to a wider range of students is a challenge that the College Board is facing head on. Come to this webinar to learn how courses like AP Precalculus, English 10: AP Seminar and AP African American Studies will help us open doors to maximize student access and outcomes. We'll discuss the value of moving students from zero APs to one AP in high school. We'll also touch on master scheduling, course sequencing and recruitment methods to help you bring and expand these courses in your schools.
