

Session Description: Since the December 2022 release of ChatGPT, the use of AI tools by teachers and administrators has been a hot topic nationwide. One year later, over 10,000 generative AI tools are available for public use. What does this mean for schools and administrators? This session will highlight five sessional highlight things that every administrator should know about ChatGPT and AI tools and provide a demonstration of how they are being used by teachers and administrators today. Attendees will learn about how this technology works, its potential and its limitations, implications for leaders and the possible impact of AI on the classroom.