In this interactive workshop, discover the power of immersion and phenomenon-based learning, and the impacts they make on students.

Walk away with an understanding of how Finland has led the way in educational innovation and how to implement similar pedagogy in your schools. Hear from a panel of education leaders who have implemented global education programs.

This workshop is designed for building and central-office leaders.

Finnish educator, Petteri Elo, has an extensive career in teaching, training, and curriculum development. He turns his innovative and experimental practices with his students into engaging and thought-provoking training concepts for educators worldwide.
